

One Evening Projects

With a workshop equipped with the right kind of power tools, there is no limit to the professional looking jobs you can turn out. No natural talent or trained skill is essential on your part . . . the skill and accuracy is built into the power tools. A complete shop such as the one pictured above is perhaps the goal to which you will strive, but it is not necessary to start out on so large a scale. Most people build their workshops one tool at a time as their budget permits and as their enthusiasm for woodworking grows. For your convenience we have listed on pages 107-110 the logical sequence in which power tools are used and in which most woodworkers buy them.
